| 05/30/11                  | 15.00                                              | Spring 2012 symposium- From Russia With Love: The Big Bear's Global Role in the First Quarter of the 21st Century | Since May 2011 I have spent >15hrs total working on the logistics of the spring 2012 symposium. The symposium will involve two AWC speakers- myself and another- and a Russian historian from Fulbright. The symposium will examine Russia as an energy superpower, its contribution to philosophical and literary thought, and its political, economic, and military role in the 21st century. The symposium is free and open to both the AWC and Yuma community.

The symposium affords an enviable opportunity for AWC students and faculty in addition to the Yuma citizenry to learn more about Russia's global impact on world and European affairs. Its creation is consistent with enhancing the intellectual lives of the local communities. |
